ABSTRACT

Comprised primarily of data matrices, this report provides information on students transferring from Oklahoma public and private post-secondary institutions to other public and private post-secondary institutions in the state in fall 1992. The report consists of nine sections. Section I provides an aggregate flow of all students in the state, while the remaining 8 sections provide data for each of the following groups: males, females, nonresident aliens, Black Non-Hispanics, Native American, Asian or Pacific Islanders, Hispanics, and White Non-Hispanics. Each section includes three matrices, showing total transfers with and without degrees; transfers with degrees conferred in 1991-92; and transfers without degrees or with degrees conferred prior to fall 1991. Receiving institutions are arranged across the top of the matrices while transferring institutions appear on the left-hand column. Highlighted findings include the following: (1) in fall 1992, 56.4% of all transfers were to four-year institutions, while 43.6% were to two-year institutions; (2) among transfers from public and private institutions to public institutions, 33.8% were from two-year to four-year institutions, 22.6% were from four-year to four-year institutions, 27.3% were from four-year to two-year institutions, and 16.4% were from two-year to two-year institutions; (3) the state's two comprehensive universities reported a net loss of transfers; and (4) the highest percent of "reverse transfers" (i.e., four- to two-year institutions) was reported for Black students (31%), while the highest percent of two- to four-year transfers was for Native Americans (42%). EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- This 1992 edition of the Student Transfer Matrix is the sixteenth year in a series that began in fall 1977. The transfer trends of the 1991-92 academic year students who transferred in fall 1992 have changed since last year.

- In fall 1992, the number of students who transferred to four-year and two year institutions remained steady at 56.4 and 43.6 percent, respectively.

- The statewide flow of student transfers from public and private institutions to public institutions is also provided by type of public institution.

  From two-year to four-year institutions - 33.8%

  From four-year to four-year institutions - 22.6%

  From four-year to two-year institutions - 27.3%

  From two-year to two-year institutions - 16.4%

- The two comprehensive universities, four of the regional four-year institutions, and thirteen of the two-year institutions reported a net loss of transfers; more students transferred out of the institution than transferred to the institution.

- Both the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center and the Oklahoma College of Osteopathic Medicine with six of the regional four-year institutions, and three of the two-year institutions reported a net gain in transfers, receiving more students in the transfer process than they lost. Thoses institutions were: University of Central Oklahoma, East Central University, Northeastern State University, Southeastern Oklahoma State University, Langston University, and Oklahoma Panhandle State University, Tulsa Junior College, Oklahoma State University at Oklahoma City and Southwest Oklahoma State University-Sayre.

- The highest percent "reverse flow" transfer was reported for Black students, 31 percent, from four-year institutions to two-year institutions; however, this is down from 36 percent in fall 1991. The lowest percent "reverse flow" transfer was reported for Hispanic students, 16 percent.

- The percent transfer from two-year to four-year institutions was highest for Native American, Asian, and Hispanic students, 42 percent, 41 percent, and 34 percent, respectively. Black and White student transfers followed at 30 percent and 33 percent, respectively.

STUDENT TRANSFER MATRIX

The Student Transfer Matrix provides the numbers of students transferring from Oklahoma public and private institutions of higher education to Oklahoma public and private institutions. Please use the private institution data carefully. These institutions, as receiving institutions, are not obligated to provide transfer information. Hence, very little information has been provided. The matrix is composed of nine sections with three parts to each section. Receiving institutions are arranged across the top of the matrix, and transferring institutions are arranged down the left-hand column. Transfers are first reported for receiving institutions, which are public institutions, followed by a summary column of total public transfers. Transfers are next reported for receiving institutions, which are private institutions, followed by summary columns of total private transfers and total public and private transfers.

Section I is the aggregate flow of all students and is referred to as the statewide flow. Sections II and III give the transfer by gender for males and females, respectively. Sections IV through IX list transfers by race using the six Office for Civil Rights classifications: Nonresident Alien, Black Non-Hispanic, Native American, Asian or Pacific Islander, Hispanic and White Non-Hispanic.

Within each section, the matrix is divided into three parts. The first part reports students in that section regardless of their degree status (with and without degrees). The second part reports students within that section who are transferring and have earned a degree the previous year. The third part reports students in that section who were transferring without a degree or with a degree received prior to fall of the previous year. Parts two and three within a sector will sum to equal part one.

All transferring students at all levels are reported in the matrix, even those reported as unclassified. It is important to remember that the student is reported as a transfer by the receiving institution, and it is the receiving institutions that identifies the transmitting institution.

The matrix represents the number of students of the previous year (1991-1992) who transferred in Fall 1992 semester only. Also, note that although transfers into Oklahoma are known, transfers out of Oklahoma are not. Therefore, a total transfer configuration cannot be constructed from this matrix although useful institutional and intrastate data may be generated. This is the sixteenth such matrix to be constructed and the fourteenth matrix constructed from the Unitized Data System.

If any user of the matrix has any questions or suggestions concerning the matrix, please contact this office.

The General Intrastate Transfer Pattern of Students From Public and Private Institutions to Public Institutions During Fall 1992

This diagram depicts the data in the statewide flow of student transfer activity from public and private institutions to public two-year and four-year institutions. The percentage reflects those students reported by receiving institutions as transferring into the schools during fall 1992 with and without degrees. In fall 1992, 56.4 percent of the transfer students went to four-year institutions and 43.6 percent went to two-year institutions. In fall 1991 the distribution was 57.9 percent and 42.0 percent, respectively. The percentage of students who transferred from two-year to four-year institutions decreased from 36.2 percent in fall 1991 to 33.8 percent in fall 1992. The "reverse flow" from four-year to two-year institutions was 27.1 percent, a decrease of .3 percentage points from 1991. Exactly 16.4 percent of the fall student enrollments transferred from two-year institutions to two-year institutions, up 1.6 percentage points since 1991. The percent of students transferring from four-year to four-year institutions increased in fall 1991 to 22.6 percent, up .9 percentage points since 1991.

Transfer Pattern of Students within Public Institutions for Fall 1991

This graph displays the number of students transferring from other public institutions to each public institution specified as well as the number of students transferring from each public institution to other public institutions. For example, 1,154 students transferred from other public institutions to the University of Oklahoma; 1,164 students transferred from the University of Oklahoma to other public institutions during fall 1992.

Analysis. For nineteen of the thirty public institutions listed, more students transferred from the institution to other public institutions. However, for six of the ten four-year public regional institutions and three of the sixteen two-year public institutions, more students transferred from other public institutions to their institution. Closer scrutiny of the state wide student transfer matrix will indicate the source of the transfers.

Intrastate Transfer Pattern by Race and Gender for Fall 1992

This table presents the percent intrastate transfer of students from public and private institutions to public institutions by race and gender during fall 1992 for two-year to two-year, two-year to four-year, four-year to two-year, and four-year to four-year institutions. The percent transfer was highest for total students from two-year to four-year institutions, 34 percent. It was lowest from two-year to two-year institutions, 16 percent. Thirty three percent of the males transferred from two-year to four-year institutions and 34 percent of the females transferred from two-year to four-year institutions. Slightly more males than females transferred from four-year to two-year and from four-year to four-year institutions. More females than males transferred from two-year to two-year institutions, 17 and 16 percent, respectively. Every race and ethnic category reported the highest percentage of student transfers from two-year to four-year institutions: Black, 30 percent; Native Amercian, 42 percent; Asian, 41 percent; Hispanic, 34 percent; and White 33 percent. The lowest percentage of student transfers occurred from two-year to two-year institutions for nearly every race and ethnic category. The lowest percentage of Asian and White student transfers occured from two-year to two-year institutions, 13 percent and 16 percent, respectively. Black students transferred least from four-year to four-year institutions, 19 percent and Hispanic students transferred least from four-year to two year institutions at 16 percent.
